Note from Jeannie

Dear Mission Partners,

I am so thankful for each and every one of you. I am often God's response to a problem - He uses me to get His will done - and it is through you and because of you that I am of use to Him. Thank you! I couldn't have done it without you.

I am also thankful about spending Thanksgiving with family and loved ones this year, thanks to a plane ticket from a mission partner. My cup is over-flowing. As I spend time in the tiny communities in the country, I begin to realize how lacking my education is. I never learned how to carry a bucket of water on my head, no hands. I never learned to drive an ox cart, or to plow with oxen. I have no skills with a machete.

But I thought I knew how to harvest beans. You just pull them off without pulling up the bush, right? Wrong. You pull up the entire bush and turn it upside down to dry. When dry, you thresh it. I have a lot to learn.

The people of San Lorenzo invited me to build a house there and live among them. "Oh, but I don't want to have to carry water," I protested. "That's ok," they said, "We'll carry yours for you." I felt so humbled.

I am blessed and ready to be a blessing to others. I pray that each of you will also feel as blessed as I feel at Thanksgiving. You are in my prayers.

For His Sake, Jeannie

Here's how you carry water from the well. Even a little kid can do it. It's women's work. Below, a 10-year-old drives the ox cart. He yoked and unyoked the oxen. With a little friend he has just gleaned the corn remaining in the field.(in red tarp)

Col. 2:6-7 And now, just as you accepted Christ Jesus as your Lord, you must continue to live in obedience to him. Let your roots grow down into him and draw up nourishment from him, so you will grow in faith, strong and vigorous in the truth you were taught. Let your lives overflow with thanksgiving for all he has done. New Living Bible

Fence posts sprout in the rainy season. Later they are cut and the wood is used for cooking fires. Fences do double duty as clothes lines, but the Honduran Altar Guild Manual forbids drying altar linens on barbed wire.
